Name: Kate A. Feinstein, MD, FACR
CAAHEP Commissioner for American College of Radiology
Current Position Title: University of Chicago Medicine, Pediatric Radiologist, Professor of Radiology and Surgery

Both as a radiologist and healthcare consumer, I see the direct positive impact programmatic accreditation has on my practice and on others. I have worked with diagnostic medical sonographers for more than thirty years and am a firm believer that quality education allows newly minted graduates to assume positions ready to care for patients. Also, on the public or consumer side of the coin, my family’s healthcare has been affected by successful students.

I entered the programmatic accreditation world as a beneficiary of the process, then joined the JRCDMS as a board member, became a JRCDMS/CAAHEP site visitor, and recently a CAAHEP board member. As I have continued on my own educational journey through accreditation, my belief in CAAHEP as the “Gold Standard” in allied health education has been strengthened; requiring programs to adhere to the Standards, continuously evaluate their practices, find areas for improvement, and monitor their outcomes makes them better and more nimble in the challenging educational landscape.

As a board representative for Sponsoring Organizations, I want to contribute to achieving the strategic plan objectives including increase in sponsoring organizations’ knowledge of benefits of CAAHEP. I look forward to the implementation of the strategic plan and am committed to improving the accreditation process for all professions.

Describe current or recent activity in CAAHEP or programmatic accreditation.

Name: Bonnie Robertson, AAHA, CRT, RPSGT, CCSH
CAAHEP Commissioner for: Board of Registered Polysomnographic Technologists
Current Position Title: Manager, Sleep Disorders Program, Franciscan Health, Central Indiana Division

I have worked in the field of Sleep Disorders technology for 35 years. I served on the BRPT for 18 years from 1989 to 2007 including the office of President. I continue to serve as an SME for the BRPT Exam Development Committee as I have since 1989. I was on the AAST (APT at the time) Curriculum Development Committee and chaired the Respiratory Section for that Curriculum. As a BRPT director, I was heavily involved in the movement forward with CAAHEP and the development of the CoA PSG and contributed to the process to implement a more formalized educational program for sleep technologists.

When the BRPT approached me in 2016 to consider serving as a Commissioner, I was very excited to get more involved especially as I note the actual decline of the number of sleep technologists’ educational programs over the past few years. Even here in Indianapolis, I was quite concerned when the Ivy Tech PSG program closed. I met with Cameron Harris in the fall of 2016 to get his thoughts on the educational field, the CoA PSG and the progress being made to enhance and further the educational process for sleep technologists. His encouragement led me to consider how else I might use my own experience and training to research the possible decline, work with other professionals to explore opportunities to not only increase the number of educational programs but to also approach and encourage institutions of higher education to consider Sleep Technology.

The Sleep Medicine Technology industry is undergoing significant changes and the role of the sleep technologist is also being modified. It is extremely important that well educated clinicians are performing sleep studies as the in-lab sleep testing is primarily being done on patients with significant co-morbid conditions and the knowledge, skills, and abilities of the sleep technologist is paramount to a proper diagnosis and to using evidence-based medicine to achieve desired outcomes for the patients.

Describe current or recent activity in CAAHEP or programmatic accreditation.
I am currently the Commissioner to CAAHEP for the Board of Registered Polysomnographic Technologists.

List other relevant experience (list no more than five).
The sleep program that I manage at Franciscan Health accepts students for clinical rotation for respiratory therapy and we did so previously for sleep technology.
I served on the BRPT development committee for the Clinical Sleep Health Specialist.
I currently serve on the AAST’s Patient Education Curriculum Committee. We have just submitted a curriculum to the AAST’s BOD for approval. It would be used to educate the Clinical Sleep Health Specialist, the professionals seeking the CCSH credential.

To the CAAHEP Board,

The Association of Postgraduate Physician Assistant Programs (APPAP) consists of 59 postgraduate program members (see Appendix A) representing over 20 specialties. The APPAP is seeking admission to CAAHEP as an Associate Member in order to build a Committee of Accreditation. The goal is to provide a pathway for accreditation for PA postgraduate training, which would establish a foundational, standardized educational structure for all programs.

Given the generalist nature of entry level PA education, PAs choosing a specialty practice have a strong foundation in general medicine but require advanced training under the direction of their mentoring physician and over time develop specialty competencies. Others (roughly 2%), who desire more formalized training in their specialty, participate in clinical postgraduate PA residencies (also called fellowships), which provide an alternative to an informal, physician mentored training experience.¹ The clinical postgraduate training programs, who admit nationally certified PAs, vary in length but in general are 12 months in duration.

These programs were recognized by the AAPA in May 2016 in the paper on Accreditation and Implications of Clinical Postgraduate Training Programs as one of several ways of continuing professional development.² This paper also states that the AAPA supports the development of an efficient, PA-led, national model for accreditation including continuous quality improvement and outcomes reporting.

Thank you for your consideration.
